

Report compliance issues, ethical concerns or fraud, waste and abuse

If you suspect something, say something.

Fraud and abuse is a serious problem requiring your attention.

Although there is no precise measure of healthcare fraud and the majority of health care professionals are honest and well-intentioned, a minority of individuals who are intent on abusing the healthcare system can cost billions of dollars and put the healthcare system at serious risk.

You play a vital role in protecting the healthcare system.

To maintain compliance and protect against fraud and abuse, you need to know where to report issues to protect our organization from potential abusive practices, civil liability and perhaps criminal activity.

Moda Health prohibits retaliation against anyone who reports suspected violations in good faith.
